

The Tranquil Moment

Carol Worthey's one-women art show at The Ebell of Los Angeles was a great success. Her line of works, "Tranquil Moments", attracted special attention. Several works in this unique line of beautiful paintings were sold during the show.

Regarding Morning Muse:

"I was entranced looking at this gorgeous work, your use of light, the warm mood, the love in it. I want to own it."

B.G., world-renowned Composer & Distinguished Professor Emerita,
(Morning Muse now hangs in her collection next to a Picasso.)

Regarding Out for A Walk:

"What a joyous work! The shadows are amazing. That tree seems to breathe and the house is somewhere where I'd love to live."

M.W. at Ebell Reception
(Original is now in Private Collection)

Regarding Summer Breeze:

"You have captured the feeling of being by the seaside. The closeness of the two girls is so palpable. I can feel the breeze! I adore this painting."

J.G. at Ebell Reception
(Original is now in Private Collection)

Because of the extraordinary interest in this series of Carol's paintings, we've created a special website to show them off. Today we're inviting you to the Grand Opening! There are still some original works available. Limited Edition Prints can also be purchased of every work in the series.

It was no surprise that these were the works that the attendees were most interested in. Given the complexity and noise of the world today, who couldn't use a Tranquil Moment? Carol plans to create new works in the series. In the meantime, visit our new site and steal a Tranquil Moment of your own.
